

Dave Jones is the Agricultural Scientist in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota for Ocean Spray Cranberries. Dave works with the growers in his region to address crop production concerns ranging from pest management to horticultural logistics. Prior to joining Ocean Spray Dave worked for several years as a fruit extension educator and researcher for Michigan State University, providing on-farm crop production consultation and an applied research program to growers covering sweet cherry, tart cherry, apple, pear, and peach. Dave earned his M.S. in Plant Pathology at the University of Wisconsin-Madison and his B.S. in Horticulture, also from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. A Wisconsin native, Dave is proud to be an active part of his home state's largest fruit industry.